OPEN SHOP WINS, SAYS HALL

Secretary of Building Employers
Declares Many Desert Unions.

Nine Bricklayers Reported to Have Defied Orders of Walking Delegation to Quit Work.

Officers of buildings trades unions in the District are claiming that the strike situation in the District of Columbia among the various building trades remain the same. The master builders assert there is complete confusion and disruption of the bricklayers and other trades on every hand.

The report is given out that nine of the eleven bricklayers working for Mr. Bayne, master bricklayer, on Mr. Pickford's apartment house, Twentieth and P streets, refused to obey the orders of the walking delegation to quit the jobs.

On another strike open shop job, nine bricklayers are said to be working for a prominent member of the Employers' Association in defiance of the order of the delegates to quit.

In an interview, E. K. Hall, secretary of the Employers' Association, asserted that union men in all branches of the building trades are seeking work with open shops. Mr. Hall said:

"An interesting and significant phase of the situation is that many men who have quit the unions express their relief at the removal of the bans which have bound them so long. They also say it is like new life to be able to work without being coerced and dominated by business agents and officers of either international or local unions.

"They are no longer fearful of threats of fine, and expulsion has no more meaning for them. They can seek employment now without an intermediary walking delegate, and engage in such work as their merit entitles them to, and not depend upon the favoritism or prejudice of some paid business agent of the unions.

"The carpenter situation is practically settled, and has been for some time. Carpenters are working anywhere and everywhere, despite the orders of the delegates.

"The stonecutters and masons have also evidently given up the fight for closed shop. They are employed indiscriminately upon all work."

VANCE MAKES STATEMENT.

Asserts Realty Concern Is Able to Pay All Obligations.

In connection with the suit instituted by R. C. von Bayer, vice president of the Greater Washington Realty Corporation, to have the affairs of the company placed in the hands of a receiver and for an accounting from T. C. H. Vance, president, and F. A. Vance, secretary and treasurer, President Vance yesterday denied statements made by Vice President von Bayer, saying:

"The corporation is amply able to pay any obligations which it may incur. The holding of the suit against us is without foundation in fact.

"Mr. von Bayer has been with this corporation as a salesman for a few months. His interest is purely contingent on the sale of certain property. He has no other interest, and had nothing whatever to do with the organization of the corporation. He had been connected with our work but a short time, when we found he was not conducting the business in a proper manner as directed by us. We informed him at this time that the same would not be tolerated in the future. The branch of the work which he undertook was not a success. We have advanced Mr. von Bayer a few hundred dollars, which he now owes the corporation. He was informed that his connection with us was no longer desired, and if necessary we would have to take stringent steps to terminate his relationship with our business. We furnished the money to pay the losses on the work with which he has been connected. Mr. von Bayer has no other interest in the business of this corporation, which was established long before I knew him."

William Kreuter, was fined $10 each on two cases of petty larceny by Judge Kimball in the Police Court yesterday. In default of payment he was committed to jail. He was charged with taking money from William Smith, of 213 First street northwest.

ACTING FOR FASSETT

Conference Held Over the Race-track Telegram.

WOULD UNRAVEL MYSTERY

George H. Fearons, General Attorney for the Western Union Telegraph Company, and Assistant District Attorney Given Discuss Methods of Procedure.

John Doe proceedings may be instituted by Assistant District Attorney Harvey Given to unravel the mystery surrounding the change in the telegram sent by Congressman J. Sloat Fassett to State Senator Cassidy, of New York, which resulted in the defeat of the anti-racing bill at Albany about two weeks ago.

Mr. Fassett's telegram advised Senator Cassidy to support Gov. Hughes in his fight for the passage of the bill. When the telegram reached the senator the word "not" had been inserted. The latter followed the advice given in the doctored telegram and voted against the bill.

Attorneys in Conference.

George H. Fearons, of 135 Broadway, New York, general attorney for the Western Union Telegraph Company, called at the district attorney's office this morning, accompanied by H. F. Taft, local manager of the company. Mr. Fearons assured Mr. Given upon behalf of the officials of the telegraph company that they would co-operate in every possible way with him to clear up the matter. The general attorney and Mr. Given held a short conference, but no definite plan was decided upon, but it is known that an effort will be made by John Doe proceedings to bring several persons before the grand jury and have them make statements concerning their knowledge of the affair.

Mr. Given denied that a subpoena had been issued for a telegraph operator named Timberlake, who was employed at the Capitol, from where the message was sent, and who was discharged by Manager Taft when it was discovered that the message had been changed. As yet, Mr. Given said, no plan of action had been formulated.

Even if the identity of the individual or individuals responsible for the change is ascertained, doubt is expressed as to whether there is any statute covering the offense.

May Not Be a Forgery.
The district attorney's office does not believe the action changing the telegram constituted forgery, but if certain facts are developed it is stated an indictment may be brought for conspiring to corrupt a legislator.

So far as investigation has gone, however, the offense does not appear to be covered by any statute or by common law.

Mr. Fassett's Statement.

If a conspiracy can be shown in the changing of the reading of the telegram on the Hughes anti-racing bill sent by Representative Fassett, a damage suit may be instituted.

"I am not after a judgment," said Mr. Fassett last night. "I am having the doctored telegram and the incidents connected with it investigated, and I want the guilty persons punished. If there is no law making it a criminal offense or a misdemeanor to change a telegram sent from a public station, I intend to introduce a bill on the subject myself.

"The matter is being investigated now, and detectives are working on the case. I do not suspect a conspiracy. If it is a conspiracy, it is a misdemeanor, and is sufficient ground for legal proceedings. We are merely trying to find out what really did happen. We propose to investigate it thoroughly. Every effort will be made to run the case down.

"There is a difference between a grievous wrong and a grievous outrage, and a misdemeanor or a crime. If it is a conspiracy, it is a misdemeanor, and will be handled as such."

Assistant District Attorney Given will report to-day.

BRING SUITS FOR LIBEL.

Ashford, Webster, and Mooney Demand $50,000 Each.

Snowden Ashford, building inspector of the District; William E. Webster, his assistant, and William E. Mooney, contractor, yesterday filed suits for $50,000 each against W. X. Stevens, former superintendent of the bathing beach.

The actions are for an alleged libel contained in an article said to have been written by Mr. Stevens and published in the Evening Star on March 24. This article, the complainants state, charged them with irregularities in connection with the letting of the contract for buildings at the beach, and in connection with inspection work done there.

Joins the "400 Club."

Ten names were added to the "400 Club" yesterday, bringing the membership to 147. Hennen Jennings sent in $40, and in consequence will have his name occupying four spaces on the roll of honor. Other names received were W. H. Baldwin, "J. J. E.", F. L. Siddons, Walter H. Acker, Alonzo O. Bliss, and Carl B. Kieferstein.

Fined for Assault on Conductor.

Llewellyn Davis, living on H street, between Fourth and Fifth streets northwest, was fined $30 by Judge Kimball in the Police Court yesterday on a charge of assault. Davis is alleged to have gotten into an altercation with a street car conductor and in the course of the dispute is said to have used his fists.

Charged with Embezzlement.

William Pinkard, formerly an employee of the Harvard Laundry, was held in $500 bond for the action of the grand jury by Judge Kimball in the Police Court yesterday, on a charge of embezzling $15.12 from his former employers. The defendant pleaded not guilty, and furnished the required bond.
